

Verint Communications Intelligence and Investigative Solutions

Verint Fast Facts

- Communications Intelligence and Investigative Solutions that help law enforcement, national security, intelligence and other government agencies effectively detect, investigate, and neutralize criminal and terrorist threats
- Innovative solutions that collect, integrate, and analyze information from voice, video, and data communications
- Promotes more productive and efficient investigations and cross-agency collaboration
- Solutions for communications interception, service provider compliance, mobile location tracking, fusion and data investigation, financial crime investigation, web intelligence, integrated video monitoring, and tactical communications intelligence solutions
- Tailored, customizable solutions to fit each organization's specific needs

Verint® is a leading provider of Communications Intelligence and Investigative Solutions™ that help law enforcement, national security, intelligence, and other government agencies detect, investigate, and neutralize criminal and terrorist threats.

Lawful interception and telecommunications monitoring are seen worldwide as an important means of combating crime and terror. Our advanced solutions collect, integrate, and analyze information from voice, video, and data communications, as well as from other information sources. They help law enforcement and government agencies address the challenges of increasingly complex communications networks and huge volumes of communications, data in many formats and from many sources, and legal and regulatory compliance. Our solutions promote more effective cross-agency collaboration, and they position these agencies to more successfully unearth suspicious activity, generate evidence and intelligence, and conduct productive, efficient investigations.

We have vast expertise in customizing our solutions to suit our customers' organizational objectives and methodologies and comply with national and international legal requirements. Our scalable, modular solutions and open architecture facilitate integration with existing hardware and software to reduce overall cost of investment.

For more than fifteen years, Verint Communications Intelligence and Investigative Solutions have played a vital role in law enforcement and government agencies' efforts worldwide to protect people and property and neutralize terrorism and crime.

COMMUNICATIONS INTELLIGENCE
AND INVESTIGATIVE SOLUTIONS™